

Content

On the use by a third party, without due cause, of a sign identical with or similar to the trade mark with a reputation and the definition of ‘due cause’ – Case C-65/12
Bram Woltering .....	1
On measures to prevent counterfeit or pirated goods being placed on the market – Case C-98/13
Thomas Mølsgaard .....	10
On hyperlinks to freely available content – Case C-466/12
Julija Beldeninovičė .....	16
On trade marks that have become the common name in the trade – Case C-409/12
Summary and Analysis by Martin Reinisch .....	20
On measures to prevent counterfeit or pirated goods being placed on the market and powers of the customs authorities to establish the infringement of an intellectual property right – Case C-583/12
Luigi Sansone and Huib Berendschot .....	28
On the question of whether the private copying exception may only be applied to reproductions made from lawful sources and whether the private copying levy may be calculated and charged only by reference to reproductions made from lawful sources – Case C-435/12
Roderick Chalmers Hoyneck van Papendrecht .....	33
On the question of whether the creation of copies of an internet site whilst browsing the internet amounts to lawful use of copyright within the exceptions and limitations of the copyright directive – Case C-360/13
Gary Assim and Adriana Rollo .....	40
On the interpretation of articles 6 and 85(2) of Council Regulation (EC) No 6/2002 of 12 December 2001 on Community Designs – Case C-345/13
Patricia McGovern .....	47
On the registration of the layout of a store as a trade mark for ‘services’ connected with the products on sale in such a store – Case C-421/13
Lena Marcinowska and Włodzimierz Szoszuł .....	52

On the concept of ‘parody’ as one of the exceptions to the exclusive rights of copyright and related rights holders – Case C-201/13 Karel Janssens .....	58
On the exhaustion theory in copyright law and the question of whether the transfer of images of protected works from a paper poster to a painter’s canvas and the sale of those images on that new medium results in an unauthorised distribution or reproduction – Case C-419/13 Roderick Chalmers Hoyneck van Papendrecht .....	66
On the question of whether the meaning and pronunciation of word elements in a foreign language or script should be taken into account when assessing the likelihood of confusion between trade marks – Case C-147/14 Bieke Vanmarcke and Sylvia de Graaf .....	73
On the conditions under which the proprietor of a Standard-Essential Patent (SEP) with a dominant position can bring an action for a prohibitory injunction against an alleged infringer – Case C-170/13 Caroline Casalonga and Pascaline Vincent .....	78
On the right to information in the context of proceedings for infringement of an intellectual property right (action against the sale of counterfeit goods) versus legislation of a member state which allows banking institutions to refuse a request for information relating to a bank account (banking secrecy) – Case C-580/13 Huib Berendschot .....	85
On products bearing a trade mark release for free circulation and placed under the duty suspension arrangement without the consent of the proprietor of the trade mark – Case C-379/14 Bram Woltering .....	91
On the registration of a national trade mark identical with, or similar to, an earlier community trade mark and a European Union trade mark having a reputation in the European Union — geographical extent of the reputation – Case C-125/14 Judit Lantos .....	99
On the reprography and private copying exception – Case C-572/13 Marion Nuytten .....	106

On the protection of geographical indications of spirit drinks and an assessment of evocation within the meaning of Article 16(b) of Regulation (EC) No 110/2008 – Case C-75/15
Åsa Krook and Hanna Pohjola .....	114
On the inclusion of moral prejudice in certain compensation criteria in intellectual property infringement actions – Case C-99/15
María González Gordon .....	120
On claims for payment of ‘fair compensation’ – Case C-572/14
Martin Reinisch .....	128
On the requirement to pay royalties under a licence agreement in the event of the revocation or non-infringement of the licensed patent – Case C-567/14
Caroline Casalonga and Floriane Codevelle .....	134
On the notion of ‘intermediary whose services are being used by a third party to infringe an intellectual property right’ and the possibility of an injunction against the tenant of a physical marketplace – Case C-494/15
Huib Berendschot .....	139
On the question of whether a hyperlink posted on a website to protected work without the copyright holder’s consent falls within the concept of ‘communication to the public’ under Article 3 (1) of Directive 2001/29/EC – Case C-160/15
Ingrīda Kariņa-Bērziņa and Agnese Gerharde .....	145
On the issue of the potential liability of a service provider of a wireless local area network (WLAN) available to the general public for the infringement of third parties’ intellectual property rights if the infringement is being committed by one of its users – Case C-484/14
Oliver Spieker .....	152
On double royalties due as damages for copyright infringement – Case C-367/15
Lena Marcinowska and Włodzimierz Szoszuk .....	161
On whether the retransmission of television broadcasts by a third party through the internet (streaming) is an authorised communication to the public – Case C-275/15
Gary Assim and Adriana Rollo .....	169

On communication to the public, online sharing platforms and the sharing of protected files, without the consent of the rightholder – Case C-610/15 Huib Berendschot .....	175
On grounds for refusal of registration or invalidity – Signs indicating geographical origin – Case C-139/16 Irene San Martín .....	184
On the peaceful coexistence of marks in part of the European Union and the absence of peaceful co-existence elsewhere in the European Union – Case C-93/16 Patricia McGovern .....	190
On the question of whether a cloud service for the remote video recording of private copies of works protected by copyright may be permitted or prohibited under national law – Case C-265/16 Matteo Biondetti .....	197
On the issue of the selective distribution of luxury cosmetic products and clauses prohibiting distributors from making use of a non-authorised third party platform in the context of internet sales – Case C-230/16 Oliver Spieker .....	205
On the implied consent of the trade mark holder enabling the application of the exhaustion rule – Case C-291/16 Mina Jovanovic, Vladimir Marenovic and Nikola Kliska .....	212
On the sale of a sorbet under the name “Champagner Sorbet” that is essentially characterised by a taste attributable primarily to Champagne – Case C-393/16 Caroline Casalonga, Joséphine Roux and Arnaud Lelong .....	217
On the concept of communication to the public – Case C-117/15 Åsa Krook and Kaisa Susi .....	226
On the question of whether the restriction on registering shapes as trade marks may also apply to shapes combining three-dimensional features of a product with other properties such as colours – Case C-163/16 Giovanna Bagnardi .....	233

On three dimensional marks and evidence of distinctive character acquired through use – Joint cases C-84/17 P, C-85/17 P, C-95/17 P
Patricia McGovern .....	239
On the question of whether a trade mark proprietor is entitled to oppose the removal by a third party of all the signs identical to that trade mark and the affixing of new signs on goods identical to those for which the trade mark has been registered with a view to importing or placing them on the market in the European Economic Area – Case C-129/17
Sylvia de Graaf .....	244
On the publication online, without the consent of the rightholder, of a photograph previously published on another website without any restrictions and with the consent of the rightholder – Case C-161/17
Ricardo Gómez-Barreda de la Gándara .....	252
On the legal standing of a body for the collective representation of trade mark proprietors; liability of a provider of IP address rental and registration services allowing the anonymous use of domain names and websites – Case C-521/17
Huib Berendschot .....	259
On goods bearing a copyrighted motif intended for sale and the storage of these goods for commercial purposes – Case C-572/17
Huib Berendschot .....	267